

IMPROVED OPTIC CABLE MANAGEMENT

07/984, 246

SA

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A cable routing system is disclosed that includes a plurality of cable pathway-defining elements, including troughs and fittings. Each of the elements terminates at an attachment end. A coupling is provided for adjoining at least a first one of the attachment ends to at least a second one of the attachment ends. The coupling includes 10 an alignment mechanism for aligning the first and second ends in a predetermined alignment. The coupling further includes a clamp mechanism for clamping of the attachment ends within the coupling when the attachment ends are in the predetermined alignment.
